Venice High Inviting All Alumni To Program

Al Venice high school alumni, beginning with the class of 1917 and including the class of 1961, will be guests of honor at a special Alumni Night basketball game program Feb. 23 at the school gymnasium.

John O. Pier, superintendent said work is currently in progress notifying all graduates, with intentions of reaching as many as possible by phone and sending personal invitations by mail to all others.

Classes will be introduced by groups between the preliminary and varsity contests when Venice meets St. Peter and Paul of Waterloo in the final game of the season for the Red Devils. Preliminary game begins at 6:30 p.m.

Pier emphasized that all alumni are invited to attend the game, even though a few may be missed when invitations are issued.

"We hope to reach every one of them," he said, "but after all these years, I'm sure some will be overlooked. If they are, it certainly won't be intentional."

Many still in area. The list of graduates has been compiled from school records, and Pier estimated that at least 50% of them still live in the Quad-Cities area.

The contact work has been going on for two weeks, he said, and is now about three-fourths completed. The biggest job, he noted, has been tracking former students who have since married and have different names.

"But it's really surprising," the superintendent said, "how one person knows where to find another, and that one still an m."

GC Building Totals $27,875; 10 Permits

Granite City building for the first 10 days of February totaled $27,875 as City Building Inspector Earl Bloomquist issued 10 permits.

Home improvements accounted for the largest number with seven permits, four of which were issued to R. Zirkhulten. He obtained permits for: $5000 for general repairs and alterations to a four-family apartment building at 2740 Washington avenue; $4000 to complete a dwelling at 2727 Myrtle avenue; $3800 for general repairs and erect a four-room addition to 2144 Washington avenue; and $3200 for general repairs and rebuilding the front and rear porches at 2257 Grand avenue.

Other home improvement projects included: $2500 for general repairs and alterations at the Gene Green residence, 2500 Denver street; $800 to enclose the front porch at the Emma Medley home, 2639 Madison avenue; and $675 for tuck pointing at 2410 State street.

Bloomquist issued a $4000 permit to the VFW club, 21st street and Washington avenue, for alterations and remodeling. The Granite City Supply Co., 20th street and the railroad tracks, obtained a $200 permit to install concrete slabs on its property; and a permit was issued to Al's TV Service and Sales, 2721 Madison avenue, for $1000 to install partitions.

Assessors Set Plan Meeting For Thursday

Preliminary planning for the annual personal property assessments to begin April 1 in Madison County will be made during a conference of the Madison County Assessors' Association called for Thursday by the president, Alton Assessor James P. Gorman.

The meeting will be held at the office of County Treasurer Dan McGee in the court house at Edwardsville, and the principal purpose is to discuss methods of setting personal property values to be used in making the 1962 assessment.

A report of committee recommendations will be presented to all assessors of the county at the annual meeting to be called by McGee in March. Both McGee and County Clerk Miss Eula Holtz are to take part in Thursday's conference.

Members of the steering group are Town Assessors Joseph Berge of Venice, Van De Graaf of Granite City, Chris Reeves of Chouteau, Bruce O. Eichenbaum of Edwardsville, Otto C. Klein of Collinsville, and Fred Klompfner of St. Russell.

Surprisingly, those hardest to locate are not those from the older classes, Pier said, but those from the middle years. He said most of the school's early graduates and those finishing in recent years have been "comparatively easy to find."

"The Alumni Night program will feature music by the school band, under the direction of Irvin Egan, and on weekends. Hand parents also have been invited to attend."

Signs will be placed in the gymnasium marking sections by years so members of classes can be grouped together.

"We expect a packed house," Pier said.

Other home improvement projects included: $2500 for general repairs and alterations at the Gene Green residence, 2500 Denver street; $800 to enclose the front porch at the Emma Medley home, 2639 Madison avenue; and $675 for tuck pointing at 2410 State street.

Levee District Budget Published Today

An official publication of the East Side Levee & Sanitary District budget, in the amount of $945,240, and an appropriation ordinance for $1,000,240 for 1962 appears on page 21 in today's issue.

Both were adopted in final form by levee district trustees 10 days ago.

The 1962 budget is down $3775 from the 1961 total of $951,015, while a special bond offering appropriation remains the same at $60,000, giving a total the same as the appropriation ordinance figure.

Estimated receipts in the district for 1962 are listed at $2,803,138, with bonds providing $1,021,846 of that total. Other income will be in the form of tax receipts, tax anticipation warrants and from funds already on hand in the form of cash balance.

The district estimates income from the sale of bonds will increase $45,000 in 1962, while bond interest will increase by $32,248.

At the same time, a drop in tax anticipation warrants issued will be realized, the budget shows. Warrants outstanding at the beginning of the year were $539,236; this amount can be reduced to $404,500 by the end of this year, levee district trustees feel.

Of the $1,005,240 appropriated for spending purposes, $412,940 is earmarked for construction projects and $277,200 for maintenance.

Double-Ring Ceremony For Sipole-Corzine Nuptials

Bouquets of white gladioli and greenery decorated the altar of First United Presbyterian Church for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Miss Joyce Faye Corzine, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Corzine, 2728 Buxton avenue, and Dale Sipole, a son of Mrs. Bessie Sipole, 1508 Pontoon road.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. David B. Maxton, assisted by Rev. A. Ralph Lynn, a former pastor of the church and a reception was held at 6 o'clock at the VFW hall.

Kenneth McCathey presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Gwen Coss, as she sang "Because" and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. It was styled with a fitted bodice, a satin neckline etched with pearls and sequins and long slim sleeves. Tiers of tulle extended from the hipline to the bottom of the ballerina length skirt and a butterfly veil of tulle was held in place with a headpiece of pearls and crystals. An orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley and white satin ribbon looped with plumosa made up the crested bridal bouquet.

The only attendants were Miss Ellen Decker and Jack Smith, bridesmaid and groomsmen. Miss Decker was in Valentine red lace. The dress was made with a high waistline trimmed at the back with a fabric bow and streamers to the bottom of the skirt. A matching headpiece with veiling and a nosegay of white carnations tipped with red and tied with red and white ribbon completed the costume.

The ushers were Marvin Sipole, a brother of the bridegroom, and Jewell Putty, the bride's uncle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Corzine wore a dove blue Alencon lace sheath with a fitted, tiered skirt and a hat of tiny pearls and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom's mother was in navy blue crepe with matching hat and accessories. Both had corsages of cymbidium orchids.

A city official who prefers to remain unnamed said Partney was retained as chairman of the plan group because the committee involves hard work and much time. None of the former "Outs" knew "The Outs" wanted the job, it was learned.

Inspection Omitted. LeMaster, who was chairman of the SIU inspection committee, will head the Sanitation committee, and other members are Schmitt, Shackelford and Basarich. An inspection committee was included in the list set forth in the city code amendment approved last week; but, to avoid oversight, the mayor said, a chairman and members were not named.

The Light committee will be headed by Basarich, aided by Wierzer, Partney and Johnson. Those in the Traffic and Parking Meter committee is to be led by Charles Meyer, who had been named chairman of the Traffic committee and later resigned. The members are Wierzer, Mrs. Gabrielle Bettine and Rutledge.

City Hall, Court Committee. Skubish was named chairman of the City Hall and Court committee. Under the old arrangement he had been City Hall chairman, but he held no chairmanship under the SIU program. Serving with him on the new committee will be Mrs. Bettine, Wierzer and Whitmer.

Before the SIU streamlining to eight committees, the council had 16, many of which did not function. Several of the SIU committees had ceased functioning before the changeover was made last week.

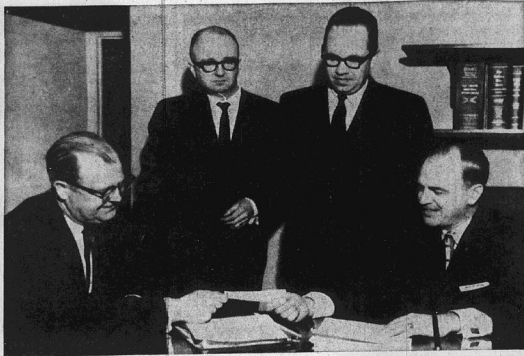

The move for the change was spearheaded late last year by Alderman Nann, who complained that only a few aldermen, the councilmen, knew details of city business which was discussed at the once-a-month chairman meetings; while other aldermen were kept in the dark.

Other aldermen joined the attack, pointing out they had to make quick judgment on which session to attend.

At a Feb. 22 meeting, Dr. Seymour Z. Mann, director of SIU's program which made the local government study at the city's request, stated it was not the intent of his team of experts for the chairman to meet and exclude other aldermen, and that committee meetings could be held at any time and not necessarily all meet on the same evening.

No Chairmen Meeting. Mayor Davis told the Press-Record when announcing the committee changes that the chairman meeting, normally held on the second Monday of the month, would not be held this evening because of the changeover.

Copies of the committee selection have been mailed to the aldermen and the appointments probably will be submitted by the mayor to the council on Feb. 19 for official confirmation.

Trouble and misfortune continue to plague the family of Mr. and Mrs. John St. Meszaros, 2808 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Last August, he suffered a serious heart attack and Friday night Mrs. Meszaros, herself ill with the flu virus that is sweeping the Quad-Cities, forgot and left washer of clothes at the Washbucklet Laundry, 2606 Namewood road.

When she made the discovery the next morning, the clothes were gone, apparently taken by mistake by someone else.

"There were pillow cases and apparel for our six children," Mrs. Meszaros told the Press-Record. "I guess I was just too sick Friday night to remember that I had a washer of clothes at the laundry."

To replace the clothes would be a problem and a burden on the family, she said, and she asked the Press-Record to let the finder know who they belong to and where they can be returned.

Church Class Started In 1933 Honors Teacher

In 1933, a Sunday school class of 21 teenage boys was started by a teacher at the Bryan Avenue Pentecostal Church. Yesterday, 15 of those boys, now grown men with families gathered at the church to honor the teacher, Bill Green.

The class began the reunion by attending Sunday school services conducted by the pastor, Rev. Kenneth Reeves. George Teller, now a police lieutenant, introduced Bane Presley, who presented Greer with an initiated ring. Teller noted that not one of the class members ever has been involved in any type of crime and credited part of the reason for this to Greer's teaching.

After the morning services, a testimonial dinner was held at the Smorgasbord, with Presley as toastmaster. Rev. Reeves gave the invocation. The dinner was attended by classmates and their families, members of the church congregation and several other families who formerly belonged to the church.

Presley gave a resume of the class and announced that two of the members are now ministers: Robert Wolfe in Texas and Earl Land Ross, Neosho, Ill., who sent a congratulatory telegram to Greer. It was delivered during the church service. Judith Smith contacted all the former members and made arrangements for the reunion.

Greer is still active in church work, and occasionally teaches a class when a teacher is absent. Members of the class attending were Presley, Smith, Teller, Allen B. Reeves, Sherwin Martin, Wayne Richardson, Andrew Overholtz of Marine, Ill., Perry Johnson, Thurman Adams, George Wolfe, Floyd Smallwood, Carl Edwards of Collinsville, David Johnson, Philip Overholtz of Glen Carbon and Herbert Ousley. Plans are being made to make the reunion an annual event.

Injuries Down To 26

Last Month's 123 Accidents In GC Sets January Record

ICY driving conditions were blamed for last month's January record number of traffic accidents within the city limits of Granite City. According to the police department's final tabulation there were 123 mishaps, 26 injuries and no fatalities.

Last month's total of 123 mishaps tops the previous January high of 113 set a year ago. Despite the record number of collisions, the number of injuries was down.

Area weather conditions were blamed for the staggering total as driving became quite hazardous. Many motorists refused to venture out on the streets, and if they did, they drove considerably slower than usual. Because of the slower speeds, the impact of the collisions was less and therefore fewer injuries.

Predicted 99
Records Clerk Raymond Ridge pointed out that as soon as the ice began to melt, the number of accidents dropped and the number of injuries fell. Granite City police had predicted 99 mishaps for the 31-day period after December's all-time one-month high of 132 accidents.

Sixty-three of last month's collisions, or more than half, involved two moving automobiles. Forty-two parked motor vehicles were struck in 38 accidents.

Of the 42 parked vehicles hit, 25 involved two cars — one parked and one moving; seven parked cars were struck by hit-and-run drivers; three parked trucks were hit by autos; two parked cars were struck by the same auto; and one car was hit by a road grader.

A parked car was struck by a truck and one accident involved

he risks his life to save others...

The fireman lives dangerously in the service of others. He risks crippling accidents, even life itself to protect the community. The alarm sounds and he goes into action with an unflinching sense of duty.

When he fights fire, he brings to the battle months of intensive training. He is expert in the methods of extinguishing various types of fires, in the techniques of rescue, and in the proper maintenance and repair of the complex equipment he uses.

And his job is not limited to fighting fires. The fireman investigates fires of suspicious origin. He inspects buildings for possible fire hazards, lectures on fire-prevention campaigns, and assists police in emergencies.

He works closely with the water company in the continuing battle against the ever-present danger of fire.

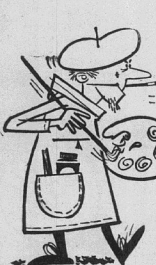

You have a responsibility to the fireman—the responsibility of doing your part to prevent the outbreak of fire at your home or your place of business. Next time you hear the fire alarm, ask yourself, "Could that fire have been prevented, and what have I done lately in the interest of fire prevention?"

MORE ABOUT

Questions, Answers

Commission members are volunteering their services.

Q. Is much more scheduled to be spent?

A. No. The appeals board members will be non-salaried, and $1 a year is being added to the budget for the administrator.

Can Still Give, Sell Land

Q. Under zoning, can a farmer give a piece of ground to his son?

A. Certainly. The right to give or sell land is not changed. When more than one tract is sold or the remainder is less than five acres, there are regulations about how the boundaries of the sale must be described. If a subdivision is being developed, there are rules about the type of streets and other arrangements.

Q. Does a farmer need a zoning permit to construct a building or to carry on any traditional farm activities?

A. No, farm buildings are exempt, and there is no authority to desire to hamper him in any way. Some opponents have quoted material out of context or used documents having nothing to do with zoning to confuse the public.

Only Harms Nones

Q. Why are some people against zoning?

A. Except for a small group of intense "againers," whose motives are not clear, misunderstanding seems to be the only reason for opposition. Once the facts of zoning are known, it is realized that zoning is intended only to help people, not to harm them. The only thing harmed is a public nuisance that might be proposed at some future date.

Q. Can townships do the job instead of the county?

A. Experience has shown that a county can be zoned effectively only by its county government.

Q. Does zoning infringe upon the authority of supervisors and assistant supervisors?

A. No. They not only decide what the zoning ordinance will say and what the zoning maps will show, but they also have the final decision on any zoning issue after the program is in effect.

Aids Efficiency, Economy

Q. Will it help the County Board?

A. Yes, through well-planned growth. When growth is unguided, cost of providing basic government services is much greater, making efficiency and economy difficult.

Q. Who is backing zoning?

A. Citizens, farmers and leaders interested in the county's progress.

Q. Who will benefit?

A. Everyone. Zoning offers the only opportunity for people to have a voice in determining

"Walkway, Not Roadway," Says St. Supt. Warfield

Several aldermen point out city equipment a grader and trucks — were used in making the sidewalk across the private property, and question if bills for slag pending for the city include material for the sidewalk, which they say also could be used for a roadway.

Supt. of Streets William Warfield said he assigned a street department grader to the job, and in the late afternoon when other work was slack, used city trucks to haul slag, which was donated.

Warfield, a candidate for committee in Precinct 18 in the forthcoming April election, said the improvement is a walkway and not a road, pointing out there is no horizon line on the slag used for St. Clair avenue to permit vehicular traffic. "The walkway goes to the door of the school, whose children have been wading through mud to get to the school," Warfield told the Press-Record.

The street superintendent said he bought slag last week, but used it to repair alleys and the shoulders of blacktop roads in all sections of the city. "The slag used for the school walkway was donated," he repeated.

Arbitrator Rules For Laborers 397

An arbitrator has ruled in favor of the heavy-work rates for Laborers Local 397, resulting in about $1500 to be paid to 15 workers on the Madison avenue repaving project being carried out in Madison by General Contracting Co. It was announced today.

The matter of the heavy-work rates or regular highway construction rates for the local project went to Arbitrator Joseph Hedges of Springfield, former state associate director of labor, on Dec. 7. The heavy-work scales are about 10 cents an hour, and the $1500 was placed in escrow by the construction firm.

Frank Vitale, Shooting Victim, Transferred

Frank Vitale, 33, railroad worker who was wounded by two blasts from a shotgun last Monday at his home at 2133 Glen drive, was transferred Saturday from St. Elizabeth Hospital to the Missouri-Patients Hospital in St. Louis.

A nurse there said this morning he is "doing better, and is feeling pretty good today."

Police said no signs of violence were found. Mrs. Puffer is believed to have been dead 36 to 48 hours before her body was found. Robbe apparently was too ill to summon help.

Mrs. Puffer was divorced by her husband, Dr. Charles Puffer, also of Pacific, Mo., on Feb. 6. Dr. Puffer told the Press-Record that he last saw his wife Feb. 1 when she came to his home. Willard reported that she had been residing in the Grand avenue apartment since Jan. 13.

Funeral services for Mrs. Puffer were held yesterday afternoon at a Pacific, Mo., funeral home, with burial in Pacific. Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Helen Rawson, and a son, Charles, both of Pacific.

Robbe was employed as a credit manager at St. Elizabeth Hospital until he was discharged in the latter part of January. He was hired there Nov. 27, 1961, after having resigned from a similar position at Alexian Brothers Hospital in St. Louis.

Leo Wolf, 2912 Yale drive, told police yesterday at 4:40 p.m. that houses at 2500 Yale, 3136 Princeton and 3340 Princeton were badly damaged. Mud was thrown inside and outside, and holes were punched in the plaster and insulation, he said.

Fire Extinguishers Stolen

Thieves took three fire extinguishers from Ellettsville grocery store Saturday night. Workmen, 2704 Lincoln street, took the extinguishers and the missing were two small carbon dioxide extinguishers and a larger one was found along the road.

Mrs. Raymond Kester, 2806 Namekoki road, told police Saturday at 12:15 p.m. that thieves took her garage Friday night. She was a small tool box full of tools, a case of oil, a grinder, a drill set, the tool drawer of tools from a large tool chest and a propane torch.

Deputy Hospitalized After Sunday Fracas

A special deputy from the Madison county sheriff's office is hospitalized and two Madison residents have been charged with assault but released without posting bonds on order of Sheriff George Musso following an altercation yesterday afternoon on the parking lot of a discount store near Collinsville.

An investigation is being conducted. The sheriff's office said Special Deputy Sheriff Earl Powell, 40, of Collinsville, was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, for treatment of scalp lacerations which he said were suffered when struck by a tire tool wielded by either William E. Patterson, 29, of 2222 Fifth street, Madison, or his brother, 21-year-old Donald Patterson of 201 Fifth street.

Powell reportedly tried to stop an auto occupied by the Pattersons, who were speeding along Collinsville road, the sheriff's office reported.

The Pattersons told a different story, according to the sheriff's office. They contend that Powell repeatedly tried to force their auto off the road, and when they stopped in the discount store parking lot, Powell grabbed one of the men who was struck in the face with an elbow. Donald Patterson said a passenger riding with Powell, identified as Darrell Ward, 28, of Collinsville, then got out of the car and threatened Powell with a gun. The brothers then entered the near-

Green's Pension OK'd By U. S. Judge Platt

Pensions paid to Laborers Local 397 Business Agent J. A. C. Green during the years he was barred from holding union office while on probation were approved by U. S. District Judge Casper Platt of Danville and Green's probation officer after the union membership had accepted a pension resolution, the Press-Record learned today.

Green was named business agent for the union last summer, received pensions in the amounts of $14,575 in 1960 and $14,800 in 1959, according to Bureau of Labor Management reports received each year from the union. The 1961 reports are due by March 31.

Green was business agent for the local about 20 years before his conviction under the federal anti-racketeering act in connection with a levee maintenance project on the Chain of Rocks canal about eight years ago. He was placed on probation for three years, ending in 1950 and was fined $3000.

Upon the end of his probation period on Dec. 2, 1960, Green became eligible for restoration of citizenship, which was carried out on May 25, 1961, by Gov. Kerper, Charles Donahue, solicitor of labor for the U. S. Department of Labor, noted in a letter to Harold Greenberg, attorney for the union, that a five-year bar on the right to hold union office with respect to persons convicted of certain crimes which bar extends from conviction or the end of imprisonment.

... expressly provides an exception to the five-year period in the case of a person whose citizenship rights have been fully restored.

It is my opinion that the statutory exception to the five-year bar is applicable to Mr. Green on the basis that his citizenship rights have been fully restored.

Green's pension topped salaries of other officers of the union, according to the report.

Car Insurance Discount Granted Honor Students

Robert Butler, a Granite City high school student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Butler, 3164 Aubrey avenue, is the first Quad-City resident to earn a 20% discount on automobile insurance because of his good grades.

State Farm Mutual, the country's largest auto insurer, offers the cash savings as part of a new "Good Student Discount" plan. It was announced by the local agents, Ed Nichols, Mike Tournes, Joe Hasler and Harry Roy and Gerald Thebaud.

The plan is the result of State Farm's search for a way to single out unmarried young men 16 to 25 who have fewer accidents than the average for that group of drivers; the group pays the nation's highest auto insurance rates. The company believes that those who spend time on home work will be on the highways less, thus reducing exposure to traffic dangers.

Eligible for the plan are single males in the 11th grade or above who have attained good scholastic ratings. Young women drivers, who already pay much less than young males, are not included in the plan.

Eligible for the discount plan are full-time students of high schools, junior colleges, colleges and universities who meet any one of the following conditions: rank in the top 20% of their class; have a "B" average or better or the equivalent; or be on the dean's list, honor roll or similar scholastic list.

Levee District Still Hopeful Cities Will Join Its Program

Officials of the East Side Levee & Sanitary District, who are faced with a dressing down by the state Sanitary Water Board during a hearing set for Feb. 26 at Springfield for the district's own alleged pollution of the Mississippi River, are hopeful the larger cities of Granite City and East St. Louis will participate in a district-wide program of abatement. F. E. Wasiey of the consulting engineer firm of Horner & Shilrin, St. Louis, designers of the district-wide system of sewage treatment, told levee board members last week that construction of individual treatment plants by Granite City and East St. Louis "would appear to have an adverse effect on the costs to their smaller neighbors."

He added that costs per family were dependent on the percentage of participation. "The larger the base over which the financing can be spread, the less cost per family," he said.

City Plants Less Costly
Both Granite City and East St. Louis, the largest communities within the levee district, have deferred action that would have put them into the levee district's abatement program to conduct studies which have brought out that city-built facilities serving the same purpose would be more economical.

Smaller communities, that found it unfeasible to finance the construction of their own and games were played. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ann Zaleski, Mrs. Mary Dittman, Miss Dorothy Hinson and Mrs. Elizabeth Bergrath.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jessie Henderson and Mrs. Rose Hindman, and lunch was served to the above and Mrs. Dorothy Bergrath, Mrs. Ann Taylor, Mrs. Daniel Hinson and Mrs. Jackie Leatherman. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Miss Lucella McCold and Mrs. Mary Massman.

BEGIN MISSION STUDY
The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church of Venice met Thursday afternoon at the church. The meeting was the first in a series of three for a mission book study on "Glimpses of Glory."

The president, Mrs. Gladys Nash, conducted the meeting and the first and second readers were taught by Mrs. Beulah Deckard and Mrs. Mary Anderson. Others present were Mesdames Eva Ferrell, Lou Anderson, Mildred Bryant, Aracelis, Mrs. Addie Dunn and Mrs. Donald Aldrich. The next meeting will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday.

MRS. MILLER HOSTESS
Mrs. Edna Miller was hostess for a meeting of the Christmas club Wednesday in her home. The afternoon was spent at games and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hester Ohlendort, Mrs. Mabel McGee and Mrs. Hazel Painter.

The hostess served refreshments to the above and Mesdames Naomi Boelling, Margaret Painter and Lil Durer. Mrs. Jessie Oehler will be hostess for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Miller.

Modelers' Aims — A Permanent Flying Site And Public Understanding

Skysteelers' Group Enthusiastic; Needs Additional Air Space

You're a modeler, one of those gas-powered airplane modelers.
The scale stunt you've spent four months building plowing up half an acre of ground following a crash drive the first time you hook it up.

Your radio-controlled free flight, containing about $30
worth of receiving equipment,
flies out of sight one afternoon
and two months later you receive a phone call from a farmer who says he has located the plane in his bean field—ran over it with a combine.

Young friend Johnny, just becoming interested in modeling and fond of watching you fly control line, finally persuades
you to let him start and launch
the plane with you at the wires.
The excited lad gets a finger in the way of the prop and the result is a nasty bruise and a cut and a phone call later in the evening from his mother, who tells you in no uncertain terms that model flying is not for her son—too dangerous.

What makes the modeler,
then, pick up the broken pieces,
build another free flight model,
or stick his neck out by making a speaking appearance before the P-T-A of which Johnny's
mother is a member?

Are the "R/C bugs" and "scale nuts" just frustrated adults who secretly yearn to own and fly an actual airplane, or overgrown boys still playing with toys?

Questions like these are asked sometimes by Johnny's father, who is trying to take a nap but can't drop off because a block away some inconsiderate boob
has glued together some balsa, plywood and fabric, tacked on a noisy little gasoline engine and some control line wires and is watching the thing make circles in the not-so-quiet Sunday afternoon air. The questions make serious modelers, like those belonging to the Tri-City Sky Steelers, a little hot under the collar.

The first reaction is sometimes to strike back with just as cutting a remark, club members say.

Exchanges Unproductive
But such exchanges do not do much to enhance the chances for growth of modeling here,
second most important problem
at this time for the Sky Steelers.
(The first is the location of a permanent flying site.)

So the club, some 30 strong,
has embarked on a program of public education in a plan by which it hopes to inspire more youngsters to go beyond the stage of putting together a prefabricated kit or a rubber-band-powered dime store model.

"Every boy alive has gone

Press-Record Staff Photographer

WIDE RANGE of interests and ages is depicted in this picture, where three members of the local club hold five different classes of competition models. Junior member Dennis Meyer (kneeling) holds a towline glider still under construction. A combat plane, not member Garland Ledbetter (left), while senior member Pete Tegel jr. holds large stunt ship and tiny but speedy "rot-roller."

through that stage," says TCSS President Pete Tegel sr. "Wanting to put together with his own hands something that will fly."

Difficulty Discouraging Too many youths find that the wings on that first model are fragile, or that it is tedious balsa sanding and shaping a balsa block or stretching fabric smoothly over an airframe. And because of the difficulty encountered, they abandon modeling as a waste of time.

The Sky Steelers, and other organizations like it in the area,
were formed primarily for experienced modelers who felt the necessity of getting together to swap ideas (and sometimes each other's equipment).

But the clubs have come to realize that they can perform just as important a function by winning and keeping the interests of the boy's first, their neighbors' sons, who are the neophytes of today but the contest modelers of tomorrow.

It is boring business for a boy of eight to sit through a three-hour meeting while adults discuss at length how to gain sanction for an upcoming contest,
what to do about members who are in arrears, or when to schedule the next executive board meeting.

The Interesting Phases
But it is something also again
when Dad explains dihedral as it applies to the boy's first, a simple hand-launched glider; or when, after what seems like months of practice with a primary gas trainer, the instructor
one afternoon turns to the boy and says, "Here, son, you take it."

A Chance To Share
Modeling, then, offers a fine opportunity for the sharing of a common interest, not only between different age groups and members of the same organization, but also among rival clubs whose models snarl at one another on meet days, and whose owners meet afterwards and swap suggestions as to how opponents' tactics and planes may be improved.

"One point which has been difficult to put across to the public is that a model club is for them, too," says John Blum, an enthusiastic supporter of the TCSS and a member of its board of directors.

"Too many people have the idea that a model club is a place
how to fly a plane before joining.
This is a mistake on their part for not investigating, or on ours
for not publicizing our offerings," Blum added.

"There are many instances which can be recalled where youngsters possessed modeling equipment they were incapable of using, through lack of experience."

"Experience" is something which TCSS members are still gaining. Through contest flying —the best experience of all, according to many— and through association with the Academy of Model Aeronautics, something new to do or a method of improving the old is continually popping into sight.

Problem—Where To Fly?
What hasn't popped into sight
is a permanent flying location for the club.

"We need at least five or six acres of level ground, free of trees and obstructions," said Tegel.

gel. The TCSS has been using an athletic field at the Coolidge junior high school for club flying, and has permission to use Wilson Park facilities for its third annual open contest on Aug. 12.

But a planned building addition at Coolidge will deprive the club of one flying site, and the park area is taken up for most of the summer by another warm weather activity: boys' baseball.
A permanent site would do much to promote the club itself and modeling (in the eyes of the public) as a whole, members feel.

Given an area of appreciable size, the TCSS feels it could make room for the practice of theories, meetings, expression, sport flying, model shows, contests, exhibitions and instruction.

So far, contact with local industries, property owners and farmers has not produced results, although the TCSS has assured these contacts that it is willing to lease property and assume liability.

But the search continues. In hopes that if a site can be obtained it will be the first step in a program by which the TCSS
and other groups like it can refine the public that model aviation is not a game but a sport and, unlike many sports,
is not made up entirely of physical effort.

Not For Weakminded
TCSS members say it requires about 80% brainpower and 20% muscle, the former including a knowledge of the theory of flight, pressure systems, airfoils, fuel mixtures and the like. And what more fitting training programs in this age of space exploration?

Very important, especially to the young modeler, is the lesson in patience which can be learned at the workbench, a lesson which can serve the boy well as an adult.

"In success he may find encouragement to advance, in failure the challenge to try again," explains a brochure which TCSS
members distribute at public speaking appearances before civic and service organizations.

CONVERTED ROCK 'N' ROLL SINGER from Memphis, Tenn., is appearing nightly except Saturdays at the Tri-City Park Assembly of God Tabernacle. Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Yarbrough have been preaching and singing before unusually large audiences this past week according to a statement from the pastor, Rev. Robert D. Shaw. The public is welcome.

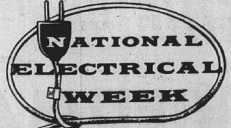

Thomas Alva Edison—born Feb. 11, 1847. His inventions sparked the development of the modern electric industry and opened the way for electronics, motion pictures and sound recording.

This man invented a new way of life

It was in 1879 that Thomas Edison invented the first practical electric light bulb. From this scientific break-through was born a new industry . . . creating new jobs and new opportunities. Here in America, the widespread use of electric energy has given us the world's highest standard of living. National Electric Week is the occasion for all of us to remember the man who, literally, invented a new way of life. Electricity has truly been a partner in the progress of this nation.

Madison JHS, also credited with an upset in the tourney, completed its season with a 7-10 record under Coach Stan Serwatka.

Coolidge pulled off its second upset of the tourney Thursday night by bouncing Roxana, a team which had beaten "Club Weiss" club twice earlier. The score was 41-33.

Unbeaten Webster Junior high of Collinsville became the other team to move to the finals as it staged a "tarnish second half" in downing Madison Junior high 52-27, after leading 24-16 at halftime.

Webster pressed Madison throughout, and the tactics paid dividends in the third period when the losers were outscored 13-5. Paul Lusk was Madison's top scorer with 13 points. Rogers notched 23 for Collinsville.
